High-dose methylprednisolone treatment in the treatment of idiopathic chronic urticaria: a double-blind placebo controlled study. The treatment of idiopathic chronic urticaria (ICU) is a difficult problem that has not yet been solved. The efficacy of corticosteroid treatment has not been clearly demonstrated. We conducted a controlled, double-blind study to evaluate the efficacy and safety of high-dose intravenous methylprednisolone sodium succinate (MPSS) in the treatment of ICU patients. Twenty patients with chronic urticaria (10 men and 10 women, mean age 21.2 +/- 1.8 years) with no previous history of side effects from the prednisolone treatment were randomly assigned to one of two groups: the test group, which received high-dose MPSS (2 mg/kg/day for 5 days); and the placebo group, which received placebo for 5 days.
