is a LSI (logic LSI) and a BGA (ball grid array). In addition, Pch (power supply) 3, which is connected to the BGA 3B, includes a power supply circuit 51 and a driving circuit 52. The power supply circuit 51 has a function for suppressing a fluctuation in potential of the power supply Vdd of the FPGA 2A. The driving circuit 52 has a function for supplying a voltage with a constant potential to the input/output circuit of the FPGA 2A and the clock circuit 4A. A timer circuit that measures an operation time of the FPGA 2A is provided at the power supply circuit 51 (for example, see Non-Patent Document 4). The value indicated by the timer circuit is stored in a storage circuit 53 included in the Pch 3. In addition, the device chip 5A has the signal line 6A and an output circuit 7A. The signal line 6A passes a signal from the FPGA 2A, the output circuit 7A is a circuit for signal processing and operation control, and the signal line 6A and the output circuit 7A are connected to the driving circuit 52. She is doing what she can to develop that potential. They push themselves harder, fighting to row until their hearts are no longer capable of beating so hard. They work daily on developing their coordination and pushing their bodies to new heights. So why then, is the sport of rowing so ill-suited to and for a woman like Leah Haught?
