tried and true, new york's photo radar system has dramatically reduced crashes and fatalities around our city, while traffic cameras have proved to be a great tool to help police and the public fight drunk driving. our state legislature must allow the city to operate these cameras 24/7/365. we know they work, and the legislature must act to save lives asap. i'm glad we're getting some attention on this particular issue, said senator gounardes. in the senate, we've been working to make sure that the city has the ability to use a flexible speed camera program to reduce deaths and injuries. there are many ways new yorkers can make their streets safer, and this is one of them. as the scourge of drunk driving shows no sign of abating, we need to do everything in our power to keep our streets safe. put yourself in the position of the people who have lost loved ones to drunk driving: the family members of the victims, the victims themselves, and the people who are driving in fear of being killed by drunk drivers. today, as always, it's safer to walk or take the bus than to drive in new york city. we've been able to make it safer for the most vulnerable by expanding the school zone speed camera program and operating the cameras 24/7. we need to keep working to make it safer for everyone. the city has operated its school zone speed camera program to an unprecedented level of effectiveness, helping to reduce crashes and fatalities in school zones, and keeping hundreds of thousands of students safe. hundreds of thousands of new yorkers have been saved in school zones by the installation of speed cameras, including school children, elderly and disabled people, and people who are not able to cross the street safely. i've been working to expand the school zone speed camera program to help keep our students and all new yorkers safe.

For a fluidized bed drying process, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (c) of this section. When combustion or coke oven gas is combusted, the combustion chamber is considered an open container. For an open combustion process, if a result is not available from the method specified in paragraph (a) of this section, you must use the procedure in paragraph (h) of this section. You must document and keep records of the procedures used for all such estimates. For a combustion flue, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (a) of this section. For combustion flue gas that is combusted at 100 percent, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (d) of this section. For a coal pyrolysis process using a fluidized bed, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (c) of this section. For a fluidized bed calciner, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (c) of this section. For a coal gasification plant, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (c) of this section. For a thermal oxidizer, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (d) of this section. For a thermal process generating primarily carbon dioxide or carbon monoxide, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (c) of this section. For a thermal process generating mainly nitrogen gas, you must use the emission factor or emission calculation factor method specified in paragraph (e) of this section. 5ec8ef588b
