C)The show opened with an extended commercial break featuring a musical number which was made up of clips from the opening sequence to Sweet Valley High. It was a song by Brian Viglione and it was called Nothing in the World and Everything All at Once. As Sweet Valley High was finished the band played a song called "Hot Toddy" which was an original song by Brian Viglione. Sweet Valley High is a group of girls in college who have three best friends. The song was performed by Brian Viglione, Jonathan Reens and Renato Morales. It was a hit single in Europe in 1995 and was also released on the soundtrack of the film. A woman dressed in a Sweet Valley High costume then came out and spoke with Jonathan Reens about how she was in love with him and then he spoke to Renato Morales about how he was in love with her. She then moved away to speak to some other fans. Later Sweet Valley High came back out and it was time for a game called "A Gift from the Givers" which was a special version of the Gifting Game. It was played for all the teens except Nikki Reed who was missing. In the first part of the game Nikki was played by Melissa Joan Hart who was dressed as Nancy in the show and then she went off to talk to the audience. In the first part of the game Dean Cain played as Nancy's father and then he moved away to talk to the audience. In the second part of the game Robin Givens played as Nancy's mother and then she moved away to talk to the audience. In the third part of the game it was played as a musical number, which was by Brian Viglione called "Nothing in the World and Everything All at Once" and it was performed by
